

AMERICAN COLLEGE OF HIGHER EDUCATION

21 Years of Excellence in Education

Student Orientation Program at American College of Higher Education

Ms. Sally Sternal, Consular Chief of U.S. Embassy, Sri Lanka welcomed by the CEO, Mrs. Sherryn Yaseen and the Management of American College of Higher Education.

An orientation for the newest batch of students at the American College of Higher Education (A.C.H.E) was held on Saturday, 10th September at their main campus in Dehiwala. Students and staff from all the branches throughout the island were in attendance (Kandy, Kurunegala, Negombo, Galle and Matara), as well as parents and faculty members. The attendees had the pleasure of hearing the special guest, U.S. Embassy Consular Chief Sally Sternal, detailed the requirements for obtaining a student visa to continue their studies in the United States following the initial two years studying at ACHE for the completion of their Associate degree. CEO and Founder, Mrs. Sherryn Yaseen, gave an inspiring speech highlighting some of the successful students who have obtained higher degrees abroad over the past two decades. Informative presentations were also had by Senior Manager, Victor S. Patrick welcoming the new students and Director of Studies, Dr. Padmini Sirimanne specifically detailing the honors programs and Phi Theta Kappa (PTK) Honor Society available. The new head of the English Department, Professor Craig Gardner, warned the students of the dangers of plagiarism, while stressing the need to think outside of the box and placing focus on excelling in scholarship and self-awareness. ACHE student Chrischale Hiruni shared some of the activities that students can look forward to during their two-year stay at the college. It was a rousing morning with the guest panel fielding many questions from the students and parents regarding the program, scholarships available, additional visa questions and extracurricular activities available at ACHE. The morning ended informally with everyone sharing snacks and drinks, well wishes for success and getting to know one another as well as the facilities of the campus. The American College of Higher Education is in its 22nd year of successful achievement in Sri Lanka; you can find it's head campus at 23, Hospital Road, Dehiwala (Tel: 077-3421194) as well as online at <http://americancollege.lk/> or <https://www.facebook.com/americancollegesl/?fref=ts>.
